Vanished mum Nicola baffles search expert

A SEARCH expert looking for Nicola Bulley says he has not seen such an unusual case in 20 years.

Peter Faulding, head of a team of experts searching the River Wyre, said another stretch near where she went missing would be scoured.

Ms Bulley, 45, was last seen walking her dog by the river in St Michael's on Wyre in Lancashire almost two weeks ago.

Mr Faulding said: "It is so unusual.

"Normally when we deal with a drowning victim, they are where they go down.

"I would expect to find Nicola in the water right in front of the bench where she went down. She would not have moved, maybe two or three feet.

"This is so strange. "In my 20-odd years of doing this, I have worked on hundreds of cases, I have never seen anything like it."

UK to launch its own crypto

A STATE-backed digital pound is likely to be launched later this decade, according to the Treasury and the Bank of England.

Both institutions want to ensure the public has access to safe money in the digital age.

Chancellor Jeremy Hunt said it could be a new "trusted and accessible" way to pay.

But it will not be built until at least 2025.

"We want to investigate what is possible first, whilst always making sure we protect financial stability," Mr Hunt said.

UTTER DEVASTATION!

ANOTHER earthquake rocked Turkey yesterday after two others devastated the country and its neighbour Syria, killed more than 5,000 people, and trapped scores more under the rubble of collapsed buildings.

The 5.8-magnitude quake struck at a depth of 1.2 miles in central Turkey, the European Mediterranean Seismological Centre (EMSC) said, as rescue efforts continued and as the death toll in Turkey alone rose past 3,400.

A winter storm causing freezing temperatures has been hampering those working desperately to free people from the rubble of destroyed buildings, with the cold weather making the need to reach trapped survivors even more urgent.

The WHO warned that the toll could hit 20,000, and said 23 million people – including 1.4

Quake toll expected to reach 20,000 million children – could be affected. Syria's humanitarian needs were the highest of all, the WHO noted.

In the badly hit Turkish city of Hatay, residents called out as the screams and shouts of those freezing under the rubble filled the air. Desperate to reach them in time, rescuers have been digging with bare hands. The quakes affected dozens of towns and cities across a vast area stretching in a 200-mile radius.

Thousands of rescuers have descended on the region to help, with the next 24 to 48 hours being described as the vital 'golden hour' to save survivors. In Sanliurfa, a Turkish town 30 miles north of the Syrian border, rescue workers spoke in hushed tones as they listened intently for any sign of life in a collapsed seven-storey building in which 35 people were still missing.

Meanwhile, tens of thousands have been left homeless and sleeping in cars or searching for temporary accommodation.

Teacher and child 'were killed by dad'

THE head teacher of Epsom College was shot dead by her husband, before he killed their daughter and took his own life with the same gun, police believe.

George Pattison, who had a gun licence, is believed to have killed Emma Pattison and seven-year-old Lettie at the family home in school grounds.

Mrs Pattison made a distressed call to a family member late on Saturday evening.

By the time the relative arrived, all three were dead.

Mr Pattison's gun licence had been recently updated.

Surrey Police made a routine phone call to the 39-year-old chartered accountant in the days preceding the killings, because the details of his new home address needed to be checked.

It is understood that the couple was not known to Surrey Police.

The force has referred itself to the Independent Office for Police Conduct.

Post mortem examinations are expected to take place later this week.

Sturgeon's blown it, blasts Salmond

FORMER First Minister Alex Salmond has accused Nicola Sturgeon of having 'thrown away' years of campaigning for Scottish independence over her gender reforms.

Mr Salmond is said to have made his comments during a Burns Supper for his Alba Party in Dundee.

He said: "To get to a position where you say to a majority of our people that you cannot have single-sex spaces... because of some daft ideology imported from elsewhere borders on the totally absurd."

He said: "Thirty years of gradually building until we get independence over 50 per cent and then thrown away would hardly be the most astute manoeuvre when we're meant to be taking Scotland to its next date with destiny."

Monster cop given 36 life sentences

GO STRAIGHT TO HELL, YOU BASTARD!

CAGED: Carrick will be at least 78 if he ever gets out of jail

RAPIST cop David Carrick will serve at least 30 years behind bars for attacking a dozen women over a 17-year period.

In a two-day sentencing hearing, Southwark Crown Court heard how the 48-year-old "monster" used his power to carry out a "catalogue of violent and brutal" sex attacks between 2003 and 2020.

His victims spoke of how they had "encountered evil", and the court was told Carrick sent one of his victims a photograph of himself with a work-issue gun, saying: "Remember I am the boss."

The court also heard how he told another woman he was the "safest person that she could be with and that he was a police officer" before taking her back to his nearby flat to rape her.

Carrick, who was sacked from the Met Police following his conviction, was handed 36 life sentences with a minimum term of 30 years and 239 days in prison.

The sex predator previously admitted 49 charges, including 24 counts of rape and charges of sexual assault, controlling and coercive behaviour and false imprisonment.

Judge Mrs Justice Cheema-Grubb said she had considered imposing a full-life term on the beast but decided his vile offending did not meet the guidelines for such a sentence.

By COLIN HURST
news@sundaysport.co.uk

Deducting the number of days he had spent in custody from his minimum term on Tuesday, Mrs Justice Cheema-Grubb told the defendant: "These convictions represent a spectacular downfall for a man charged with upholding the law and empowered to do so even to the extent of being authorised to bear a firearm in the execution of his duty."

Monstrous

"Behind a public appearance of trustworthiness you took monstrous advantage of women."

"You brazenly raped and sexually assaulted a number of women, some very brutally, and you behaved as if you were untouchable.

"You were bold and at times relentless, trusting that no victim would overcome her shame and fear to report you."

"For nearly two decades, you were proved right but now a combination of those 12 women, by coming forward, and your police colleagues, by acting on their evidence, have exposed you and brought you low."

"You have lost your liberty, your job and your status. You have before you the prospect of a difficult time in custody for many years."

Continuing her sentencing remarks, Mrs Justice Cheema-Grubb told David Carrick he showed an "astonishing degree of moral corruption".

BP PROFITS DOUBLE

ENERGY giant BP has reported record annual profits after oil and gas prices surged last year following Russia's invasion of Ukraine.

The company's profits more than doubled to $27.7bn (£23bn) in 2022, compared with $12.8bn the year before.

Other energy firms have seen similar rises, with Shell reporting record earnings of nearly $40bn last week. The profits have led to calls for energy firms to pay more tax as households struggle with rising bills.

BP boss Bernard Looney said the British company was "helping provide the energy the world needs" and investing the transition to green energy.

Energy prices rose sharply in March last year after Russia invaded Ukraine, sparking concerns about supplies.

The price of Brent crude oil reached $128 a barrel following the invasion, but has fallen back to about $80. Gas prices spiked but have come down.

It has led to bumper profits for energy companies, but also fuelled a rise in energy bills for households and businesses.

BOOBS STOPPED ME BEING FUNNY!

Sexy Salma
says she was not allowed to play comedy roles

SEXY PAST: Salma in old roles

By SUZY SHELDON news@sundaysport.co.uk

SALMA Hayek says she was prevented from being in comedy movies because she was TOO SEXY!

The actress, 56, admitted she wanted to appear in funny flicks her "entire life", but the general opinion among the Hollywood elite was: "You're sexy, so you're not allowed to have a sense of humour."

But the Eternals star said all that changed when she met actor and producer Adam Sandler, also 56, who cast her in 2010 comedy Grown Ups and kick-started her career in the genre.

Typecast

Salma said: "I was typecast for a long time... my entire life I wanted to do comedy and people wouldn't give me comedies."

"I couldn't land a role until I met Adam."

"They said, 'You're sexy, so you are not allowed to have a sense of humour'."

"Not only are you not allowed to be smart, but you were not allowed to be funny in the 1990s!"

The Mexican screen siren added: "I'm at a place in my life where I don't think my sexuality is the only thing that's appreciated any more."

"But if it was, I wouldn't care, because I've built enough respect around me from the people that matter that I feel seen beyond that."

The acclaimed actress recalled feeling "sad" to find herself typecast early in her career, but is now "laughing" that she is successful in every genre.

Disney pulls anti-Chinese Simpsons...

DISNEY has removed an episode of The Simpsons referring to Chinese labour camps from its streaming service in Hong Kong.

The absence of the One Angry Lisa episode in its latest season was flagged online, but it is unclear when it was removed.

There have been rising concerns about censorship in Hong Kong after it passed several controversial new laws.

The city previously had access to more civil freedoms than the Chinese mainland, but Beijing has clamped down since major pro-democracy protests rocked the city in 2019.

DRINKING two cans of beer or glasses of wine a day may lower your risk of suffering from dementia, a major study suggests.

Those who had one can of beer or wine a day had a 21% lower risk of dementia, while those who had two daily drinks had a 17% lower risk. But more than that actually raises your risk.

The Italian crew were gentlemen "not perverts", she recalls, adding: "It was good for me to learn very early on that I can compartmentalise my body as Kerry from my actor body."

Suggestive

Kerry added she hates dressing in a clichéd, sexy way, saying: "Being totally naked is easier. It's not so suggestive."

"I don't know if I could really pull off something super-sexual."

"That would make me way more embarrassed than just being totally naked!"

Hands is new Chairman in PM reshuffle

RISHI Sunak shook up his Cabinet yesterday as he finally replaced Nadhim Zahawi as Tory chair and overhauled major departments.

The PM has installed veteran trade minister Greg Hands (above) as the new chief at CCHQ, more than a week after his predecessor was sacked in a row over his tax affairs.

Mr Sunak has also launched a dramatic reshaping of Whitehall to reflect the "priorities of the British people".

Grant Shapps's Business Department is being merged with Trade, and Kemi Badenoch takes charge.

Mr Shapps will be shifted to a new Energy Security department.

Enrage

In a step that could enrage some Tory MPs he will also be titled Secretary of State for Net Zero.

There will be a new ministry of Science, Innovation and Technology, including responsibilities for digital issues currently held by the Culture Department. That will be headed by Michelle Donelan.

Along with Mr Hands, Lucy Frazer joins the Cabinet in Ms Donelan's old Culture brief.

The reshuffle is not affecting Deputy PM Dominic Raab, who faces an inquiry into bullying claims.

Mr Sunak tweeted: "The Government needs to reflect the priorities of the British people and be designed to deliver for them."

'Too much English' at Welsh school

A WELSH-speaking school has been put into special measures after being accused of letting kids speak too much English.

Inspectors found many of the 331 pupils at the primary 'turn to English naturally' when chatting and were not given enough chances to 'celebrate Welshness'.

They told teachers at Ysgol Pen-y-Garth in Penarth, south Wales, to put more focus on the native language in and out of class - even though Welsh has not been commonly used strongly in the south of the country.

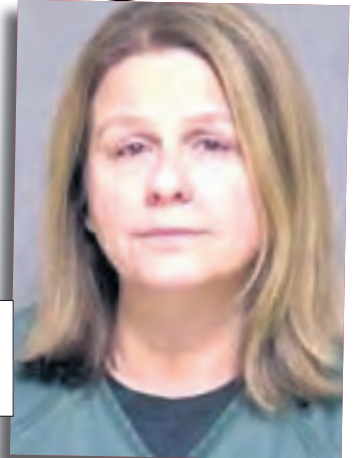

"A majority of pupils turn to English naturally with their peers in lessons and informal situations," said officials.

"There are few opportunities for pupils to celebrate Welsh culture and traditions, for example through arts."

Drunk wife SLASHES hubby's KNACKERS

...and gets off with just probation

WASHED UP: Drunk Hennessey went mad over the dishes

You could have someone's eye out with those!

HELEN 'Corrie Rosie' Flanagan had fans goggling when she showed off her new busters.

The actress, 32, revealed that she has 'really got her confidence back' thanks to her boob job, as her nips jutted like chapel hat pegs.

In the video shared to Instagram, she slipped into a white cropped vest top and grey joggers to pose in the bathroom mirror.

When the pictures appeared online, fan Bazza79 commented: "Needs to turn her heating on - she could take people's eyes out with those!"

A DRUNK wife left her hubby's BOLLOCKS hanging off when she set about him with a carving knife...for not doing the dishes!

But 50-year-old Cristina Garza Hennessey got off with just three years' probation after the savage attack on her fella.

The drama unfolded when cops responded to domestic assault call on November 4, 2022, at a house in northwest Rochester, Minnesota.

Police found a man at the residence who said a drunken Hennessey threatened to cut off his testicles and lunged at him after a row over the unwashed dishes.

Hennessey then fled the residence in her vehicle.

Cops observed a deep cut on the man's scrotum which left his testicles visible.

Punched

Hennessey came home and began to cry, scream and yell at officers who asked her to get out of the vehicle.

She said she wanted to go to prison.

When police offered to take her to jail, she agreed to exit the car.

She rushed at an officer and punched the officer in the face.

"Officers arrested Ms Hennessey by taking her to the ground where she continued to resist by pinning her arm under her body and extended her arms out under officers," reads part of the complaint.

Hennessey, pleaded guilty to fourth-degree assault against a cop and a charge of domestic assault as part of a plea deal that dismissed a charge of fourth-degree criminal sexual conduct and a count of obstructing the legal process.

Judge Debra Jacobson sentenced her to a stay of adjudication for her charges, meaning that if Hennessey complies with her probation, her charges will eventually be dismissed.

Jacobson ordered Hennessey to undergo domestic abuse counselling and chemical dependency treatment as part of her three-year probation.

Hennessey was also ordered to spend four days in jail but was given four days' credit for time served.

END OF LINE FOR RETURN TICKETS

A TRIAL of scrapping return tickets to make fares simpler will be extended as part of a shake-up of railways.

LNER, which operates trains along the East Coast mainline, will extend its trial of selling single tickets only on its routes.

Under the trial, a single is always half the cost of a return.

The government said the reforms could provide "better value" for passengers.

Currently, many singles are £1 less than a return.

It has not been revealed if there are plans to roll out the trial at LNER to the country's other train operators.

As an example, LNER said that when its trial began in 2020 the cost of a super off-peak single ticket from London to Edinburgh would be £73.70 rather than £146.40, or £147.40 for a super off-peak return.

Railway expert Mark Smith said the reforms created a "simple all-one-way fares structure designed for today's channels: internet, ticket machines and contactless".

He said the current system "penalises" people making journeys that do not take exactly the same route each way.

The government says it wants to replace an "overcomplicated and fragmented" system in England.

Nonce facing jail over £17k hit on victim

A NONCE who admitted paying a hitman £17k in cryptocurrency to have a teen murdered is facing up to 10 years behind bars.

John Musbach, 31 (above), pleaded guilty to an indictment charging him with one count of "knowingly and intentionally using and causing another to use a facility of interstate and foreign commerce, that is the internet, with the intent that a murder be committed," the Department of Justice said.

The Haddonfield, New Jersey, man is accused of exchanging sexually explicit pics and videos with the then-13-year-old victim in 2015. The victim lived in New York at the time.

After the victim's parents learned of the "inappropriate contact" they contacted the police, who identified Musbach in the case.

In March 2016, he was arrested on child pornography charges.

Musbach contacted a hitman on the dark web after deciding to have the victim killed so they couldn't testify against him in the pending criminal case. Musbach is due to be sentenced in June.

Hormone boost to sexual desire

GIVING the hormone kisspeptin to men and women with a low sex drive could help boost their sexual brain activity, two small trials suggest.

Scans of participants' brains while they watched erotic videos showed the hormone was able to stimulate key areas linked to sexual desire.

The UK researchers say kisspeptin has potential to treat a condition that affects 10% of people.

But much larger studies are needed in order to confirm their findings.

Younger people are more likely to say low sexual desire is a problem than older people, the Imperial College London researchers said.

Kisspeptin is a naturally occurring hormone that stimulates the release of other reproductive hormones inside the body, and works differently to Viagra, which treats erectile dysfunction by improving blood supply to the penis.

Porn star's plea to kinky fans...

PLEASE STOP ASKING FOR MY PLOP!

EXTREME: Dainty draws the line at number twos

By DANNI BROWN news@sundaysport.co.uk

PORN star Dainty Wilder has a plea for kinky fans: "Please stop asking for my POO!"

The Aussie-born adult poppet says she gets all kinds of requests that range from the mild to the wild.

And the X-rated content creator said fans had even asked her to "ship" her poo to them.

She went on to explain that period blood is also a common request.

Despite the influencer remaining open-minded about acts she will perform, she has a strict "no-excrement" policy.

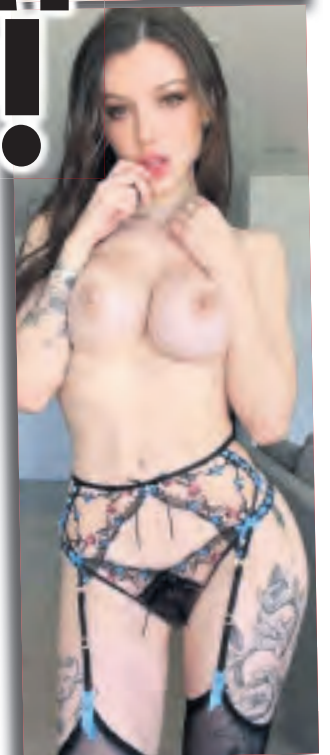

Dainty said: "Basically, those are like the extremes, and I won't do that, but anything else I'm very open to."

Squirter

The beauty, who has only been making porn videos for two years, is also a big squirter.

She explains on her Pornhub bio: "Your squirting Aussie nympho slut. I get off on you getting off on me. And I love to show off my petite body and squirt like crazy when I come."

The 34D beauty has thousands of followers on Instagram, where she is forced to wear a skimpy bikini and is not allowed to show off her pert boobs and fully-shaved fanny, because of their rules.

Sex raiders grab £71k gold dildos

THIEVES have made off with 24-carat gold-plated vibrators worth £71,000 from a sex toy factory.

The robbery, which took place at the Dreamlove plant in Seville, Spain, marked the third time in two years that the factory has been targeted.

The robbers reportedly knocked out all the street lighting in the area before breaking into the warehouse and stealing the fancy goods.

Chief Executive Officer for the company, Mario Romero Molina, said the gang made straight for the gold-plated vibrators, each worth £14,000.

As well as the golden dildos, the raiders also stole plain steel dildos, which cost up to £2,675.

Alongside the merch, local media reported that the gang also stole £22,000 in cash from a safe.

Sick zoo boss served goats at staff bash

THE director of a private zoo nicked four of the sanctuary's pygmy goats and served them to staff at their Christmas party.

José Rubén Nava is accused of running a ghastly scheme in which he stole and sold dozens of animals from Zoológico Zoológico in Chilpancingo, the capital of Guerrero in Mexico.

In some cases, Nava, who was at the helm for just a few months, allegedly killed the animals for no reason.

"These four animals slaughtered and cooked on the zoo's premises, were served as food at the year-end party," a spokesman from the state environment department said of the pygmy goats.

"This put the health of the people who ate them at risk as these animals were not fit for human consumption," they added.

Nava, who was fired after a deer escaped and was attacked by a dog, now faces charges for species trafficking and animal abuse, in addition to crimes against health.

Carer struck off after sex on job

A CARE home worker has been struck off after being caught in a sex act in a patient's bedroom.

Melissa Campbell and a colleague left two vulnerable people, they were supposed to be caring for, unsupervised while they indulged in their illicit behaviour.

An investigation by the Scottish Social Services Council heard Campbell failed to offer an apology or show regret for her actions while employed as a support worker by Community Integrated Care.

The incident unfolded in September 2021 when the pair were on duty together in Glasgow.

They used a room belonging to one of the two people they were responsible for caring for to "engage in sexual behaviour".

Investigators found the incident put the two service users at risk, while also potentially exposing them to seeing sexual activity.

BAD TEACHER!

PLACED ON LEAVE: Sergey Macheret

A UNIVERSITY teacher was arrested for allegedly dealing meth and propositioning women for sex in exchange for money.

Sergey Macheret, 65, who teaches aeronautics at Purdue University in Lafayette, Indiana (right), was busted following a long probe into reports of a "suspicious" man approaching women.

He was charged with dealing meth, possession of meth and making an unlawful proposition, which Indiana law defines as offering to pay someone for sexual intercourse or acts.

The award-winning academic and author has been a professor of aeronautics and astronautical engineering at Purdue since 2014.

Purdue said in a statement that Macheret has been placed on leave.

"The university will cooperate fully with the investigation," the school said. "The employee has been placed on leave pending further updates and legal proceedings and is barred from campus."

"The School of Aeronautics and Astronautics is working to ensure that undergraduate and graduate student needs are met regarding lectures and labs."

Cops began investigating Macheret in December after receiving multiple reports about a man approaching women. They identified Macheret as a suspect and a plainclothes officer obtained information from him.

He was subsequently arrested following a traffic stop.

No additional information on Macheret or his arrest have been released by police.

Bill Crossley, head of the Purdue School of Aeronautics and Astronautics, said that he could not comment on legal matters, but urged "any AAE students, staff and faculty who have questions or concerns about the impact of this matter on their academic endeavours to contact me directly."

The uni said its police will assist the Lafayette Police Department with its investigation.

MAN DENIES NUDE HOTEL RAMPAGE

A MAN has been accused of running naked through a hotel, wielding a toilet plunger and setting off fire alarms.

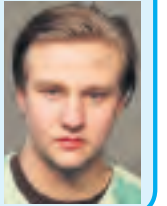

Trevyn Wayne Hill, 21 (right), of Las Vegas, denies charges of assault while displaying a dangerous weapon, criminal mischief and disorderly conduct.

According to the Des Moines Police Department, Hill approached a victim on the 18th-floor stairwell at the Des Moines, Iowa, Marriott Downtown while nude and holding the plunger.

He continued running on several floors, swinging the plunger until he was subdued by police officers.

Hill is due in court at a later date.

Naked plover's caught on CCTV

A MAN stripped naked and stalked workers, then defecated on the ground.

He was caught on CCTV in Adelaide, Australia, sneaking into a shared rubbish storage area.

Though clothed initially, the man later stripped off his clothes.

At around midnight, he was then seen wandering around a carpark in the centre of Adelaide as unsuspecting workers passed nearby.

The man spent around four hours watching workers as they dumped rubbish in the zone before he then shat on the floor of the storage area.

His identity remains a mystery and police said they haven't received any official reports about the dirty incident.

POLICE HUNTING COP SHOP JAW-DROPPER

AN unidentified man walked into a police station and dropped off a human jawbone along with suspected animal remains.

The stranger (below) approached the public counter at the San Bernardino, California, Police Department carrying "what appeared to be deceased animal remains and a lower jaw that resembled a human one," the department said.

Police noted "it was unclear at the time if the remains were real".

The man then walked out of the station before officers could speak to him and have been unable to locate him, cops said.

The Coroner's Office was notified of the grim items left at the station and responded. One of the bones was later found to be a human jawbone.

It's unclear where the man had found the bone, or to whom it had belonged.

The San Bernardino police are now appealing to the public for help with tracking down the person who brought the grisly remains in.

As Kylie Jenner looks luscious in latex....

LUVVERLY RUBBERY!

By LIZZY SPENCER news@sundaysport.co.uk

YOU may think that latex knickers are the sort of thing worn by old ladies in nursing homes once they've started to have trouble with their lower middle.

But reality TV babe Kylie Jenner recently showed that latex pants and a matching bra can be very sexy.

The Hulu star gave a raunchy pose to the cameras while wearing the kinky ensemble backstage at Paris Fashion Week.

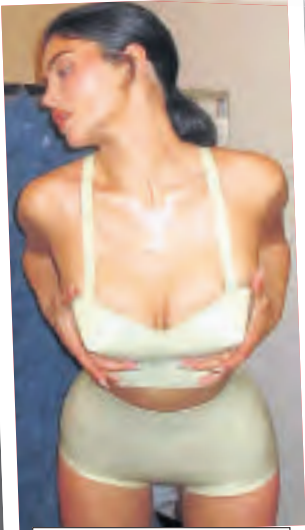

In photos posted to her Instagram account, Kylie, 25, wore her dark hair in a high ponytail while she posed up a storm in cream coloured latex briefs and a matching cone bra.

And at one point, her boobs almost popped out of the bra!

Little did the beauty know that, by wearing the squeaky outfit, she gave us the excuse to print five pages of lovely ladies in latex...

'Spontaneous sex is always so exciting...'

#MY SEX FANTASY

...WITH BRITNEY, 38DD, FROM HOVE, EAST SUSSEX

MY wildest sexual fantasy is getting it on with a stranger in a really unexpected situation.

I'm newly single and as I go about my day, I often think about how hot it would be to just pick someone up in the street, or at the supermarket, and get really naughty with them!

I'm not a big drinker and when I go out clubbing I'm more into having a laugh with my friends.

And besides, when people are really drunk the sex is usually crap!

Horny

I wish more blokes would chat me up during the day, when you're horny and alert – come on, get flirty with me at Tesco!

I also fantasise about getting it on with workmen who come to the house... a plumber or window cleaner. Without wishing to sound like some clichéd porn film!

I once got it on with a broadband engineer who came round to set me up.

He was cute, and I was very suggestive while wearing skimpy denim shorts.

He got the hint and next thing I knew we were upstairs and doing it doggy style on my bed!

I just love a flirt and spontaneous sex is so exciting.

Postie held for parcels of cocaine

A POSTMAN has been caught making special deliveries on his round – kilos of COCAINE.

Zarwardy Lewis, 35 (above), was charged with drug distribution after the US Postal Service said he delivered at least three packages of the illegal drug across Brooklyn, New York.

The probe began after authorities searched a package originating from the Caribbean destined for the Bedford-Stuyvesant area and found that it contained 2kg of coke.

The package, with a street value of £50,000, was one of three parcels investigators tracked that came from the same sender, all with delivery addresses in Bedford-Stuyvesant, and Lewis delivered the other two packages on his normal route.

Every time Lewis dropped off one of the parcels, he received a £500 electronic payment.

OAP woke up in body bag!

AN OAP woke up inside a body bag “gasping for air” after her nursing home assumed she’d died and sent her to a funeral home.

The Glen Oaks Alzheimer’s Special Care Centre, in Des Moines, Iowa, faces £10,000 in fines after three staff were unable to tell that the unidentified woman, 66, who died two days later, was still alive.

The tale began when a worker struggled to find the woman’s pulse on January 3. The patient, who suffered from early-onset dementia, anxiety and depression, had been moved into the centre’s hospice care just six days earlier.

A funeral home worker and a nurse practitioner – neither of whom noticed signs of life in the woman – placed her into a body bag and transported her to the Ankeny Funeral Home & Crematory, where workers noticed she was very much alive.

AS PROSECUTORS REOPEN STORMY DANIELS’S ‘HUSH MONEY’ CASE...

MY MINGE COULD SCREW DONALD TRUMP!

PLAYING A ROUND: Trump and Stormy in 2006

IT’S the story that just won’t go away...

Porn star Stormy Daniels claims at a golf tournament back in 2006, Donald Trump had sex with her.

And the busty model described the former President’s penis as being “like a mushroom”.

Trump has always denied that he bonked the porn star but the allegations have stuck and, despite the best efforts of his lawyers, may yet scupper his chances of running for President again in the 2024 elections.

In New York City, the District Attorney has convened a Grand Jury to hear a case that the former President should be indicted on charges relating to the hush money payout to the adult film actress in 2016.

A panel of 23 citizens of New York City have begun hearing

By SUZIE SHELTON

news@sundaysport.co.uk

from witnesses called by Manhattan District Attorney Alvin Bragg.

It is the clearest signal yet that the DA’s office wants to bring charges against Donald Trump in connection with the way his campaign was financed in 2016, and the way in which his business – the Trump Organisation – has operated.

These would be criminal charges in which the prosecutors would seek jail time as a punishment – thus screwing Trump’s chance of being President a second time.

One person has already gone to jail in connection with the Stormy Daniels payout – Mr Trump’s former lawyer Michael Cohen, who was sentenced to three years, and served two of them.

Cohen paid the hush money to Stormy Daniels weeks before the 2016 presidential election, and was repaid by the Trump Organisation. He billed them for “legal services”, but stated in court: “I participated in this conduct for the purpose of influencing the election”.

This was a violation of Federal campaign finance laws.

But this isn’t the first time prosecutors have come close to charging Trump in relation to the payout to Stormy.

The on-again, off-again nature of the investigation has been at the heart of one of the most bitter and long running feuds in the American legal and political system, with a number of prominent legal figures unloading on each other in public.

KILLED FOR HAVING LESBIAN SEX

AWAITING EXTRADITION: Killer Richard Sotka

A BRUTE stabbed two women to death after he caught his girlfriend having lesbian sex with a pal.

Richard Sotka, 48, hit the roof when he found his 58-year-old girlfriend Rhonda Cegelski getting her fanny licked out by Paula O’Connor, 53, at their home in Green Bay, Wisconsin.

At the scene, officers found blood and bloody footprints all over the home.

One of the victims was also reportedly found with a knife sticking out of her neck, and one suffered “very large” cuts.

Autopsies revealed they died due to multiple sharp force injuries and their deaths were ruled homicides. Police said Sotka was arrested in Arkansas during a traffic stop.

VICTIMS: Rhonda and Paula

During an interview, Sotka admitted to killing the women and said he was “humiliated” after finding his girlfriend and her friend in the middle of a sexual act.

Sotka reportedly told police that the women asked him to leave, but he couldn’t because of a GPS monitor he had to wear as part of a stalking and restraining order violation charge.

Police said Sotka remains held in the Mississippi County Detention Centre in Arkansas for first-degree intentional homicide.

He is awaiting extradition back to Wisconsin.

#HOT'N'HORNY

GLAMOUR girl Angela Bruckner might look like an angel all clean just out of the shower – but she's a horny little devil in the bedroom!

And the Leicester lass says stockings are her ESSENTIAL item during a sex session.

Angela, a 34C redhead, said: "I always wear matching underwear and stockings when I know I'm going to get lucky."

"But, when I strip off, I leave my stockings on. There's just something so kinky about wearing them during sex."

"Blokes love catching a glimpse of them mid-bonk."

She added: "And as you can tell, I love it when a man gives me a pearl necklace!"

BRUCKNER

JUSTIN DUNN'S ROOM 101

WHAT'S ANNOYING HIM THIS WEEK?

If you love airports, you're mental!

SOME folk out there say they love the airport "experience", but they clearly need help.

Let's start with the obvious... Having to get there far-too-early before your flight, supposedly because of security, but really so you can spend as much as possible in their uniformly horrible shops.

I understand why Boots are there, and WH Smith. Even the tech stores. Last minute toothpaste, a book for the pool, new pair of earbuds.

But it's almost certainly why so many flyers seem to be getting arrested after kicking off mid-flight, largely due to the eight gallons of vodka downed at the airport during the long, daft wait just to get onto the aircraft.

Then there's the staff.

Not the flight crews – not yet – but those manning the passenger side of airport terminals.

Nukes

"Are you carrying any of these?" it says, next to a finger pointing at a sign informing us that, incredibly, flammable liquids, guns, knives or rusty old Soviet nukes are not allowed on board.

"Did you pack your own case?"

"No. I turned my back while a former compatriot of my old Afghan comrade Osama did it for me, sniggering."

Then they barely look at your passport photo – which looks about as much like you as it does a hungover Jeffrey Dahmer – and issue you with a boarding pass.

Next up, security – the division of all airports for which I cannot truly express the depth of my utter hatred.

A quick shoo-in through passport control, even though it's supposedly been checked already – you know, back before giving me the official paperwork to access the actual plane itself.

While my suitcase is being tossed around somewhere – who needs all the wheels on them anyway? – then it's time to pick up a tray.

Off comes the belt. And the jacket. Coins, keys, lighters, phones, wallets, passports, AK47s, anal beads, the lot.

Your carry-on luggage gets treated like an unexploded bomb as men and women in remarkably terrible, standard-issue shoes clearly designed by a blind cobbler, fuss over your stuff.

Take your laptop/tablet out of the bag, put them on top of the back of it, and into the X-ray machine it goes, making your heart beat a little faster when they pause the conveyor belt to closely examine your international plug socket, an old useless face mask, and 13 different chargers.

Oh, and your shoes, of course.

Despite it being 22 years – count them! – since a knobhead tried to ignite a device hidden in his heels on a flight, failed, and has since spent his hours in supermax chokey luxury somewhere in the dusty outlands of Colorado, USA.

Then, into "departures", where there's yet more tat – including the suitcase shop! Who on earth turns up at the airport with all their clothes tucked under their arms before then remembering – duh! – that a suitcase might have come in handy?!

And the shop is past security in any case, so what would you actually do with the suitcase? Because the check-in facilities are now a whole world of nightmare already far behind you.

Despise

Then into another queue, for the supposedly "open" gate that isn't, only to be told to stand there for another hour while fellow passengers you now despise are allowed on before you.

And then, finally, we're on board, in the sky, and I need a wee.

Up to the toilet to see the door marked green "vacant" as against red "occupied" and opened it.

Only to find myself looking at a woman in her 70s with her pants around her ankles taking what my observant skills suggested was a 38,000-foot high shit.

And then the final, toe-crushing insult.

"Chicken or vegetarian?"

"Chicken, please."

"We've only got vegetarian."

Police hunt for missing Shrek statue

A "PRICELESS" Shrek statue has mysteriously disappeared from its swamp home, leaving its dragon pal "lonely".

Police posted an alert along with a pic of the handmade sculpture (above), which went missing from Hatfield, Massachusetts.

They said: "This 200lb cement Shrek sculpture has gone missing from his home."

"If you have any information of his current whereabouts please reach out to our department, or return him in the condition you found him."

"A dragon sculpture he lives with is feeling frustrated and lonely."

A spokesperson for the Hatfield Police Department added: "It's not something that could be easily moved around. There are drag marks that show he did not go willingly."

The owner told cops the statue is worth around £400, but to him "it's priceless".

Shrek is the green ogre character in the animated 2001 film of the same name, which spoofs classic fairy tales.

Sex pill importer lands in a pickle

AN attempt to smuggle 150,000 capsules of a male sexual performance enhancing drug was foiled by customs agents.

The haul was found by inspectors at Israel's Ashdod seaport and the drug is believed to be Kamagra - a substance not approved by the local Health Ministry.

The capsules were discovered hidden in sealed plastic barrels which were also hidden inside around 80 larger barrels used to import pickles.

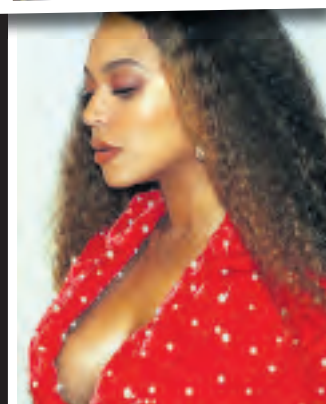

The importers claimed that the barrels only contained pickles when they arrived at the customs checkpoint.

Once the inspection revealed their full contents, security forces arrested the individual responsible for importing them.

The importer was brought before a judge in Rishon LeZion and later released from custody under strict conditions.

AS SINGER BREAKS GRAMMYS RECORD...

BEYONCE'S GREATEST BITS!

SURPASSED: Beyoncé (above) has beaten old record set by composer George Solti (below)

By SUZIE SHELTON
news@sundaysport.co.uk

POP scorcher Beyoncé won a record-breaking 32nd Grammy Award at this year's event in LA.

The former Destiny's Child singer made history as she won Best Dance/Electronic Album for Renaissance.

In doing so, she overtook Hungarian-British conductor George Solti, whose record of 31 Grammys had stood for more than 20 years.

"I'm trying not to be too emotional," said the star, as she accepted her prize.

"I'm trying to just receive this night."

She went on to thank her family, including her late uncle Jonny, who helped make her stage outfits before she became famous.

Beyoncé has previously said his battle with HIV influenced her interest in dance music, and its historical ties to the gay community.

However, people at the Grammys were too polite to note that Beyoncé being paid £20m to perform in gay-hating Dubai wasn't very "ally".

Overall, Beyoncé won four prizes at the ceremony, but missed some of the early presentations after getting stuck in Los Angeles traffic.

Despite her success, Beyoncé missed out for a fourth time on the coveted Album of the Year award.

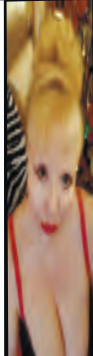

Here she is in some of her tastier outfits...

[illegible]

I'M 19 and fascinated by older women. A few weeks ago I was in my local when I noticed an attractive brunette at the bar.

I offered her a drink and we chatted for a while before ending up at her place for a few more drinks.

She told me she was divorcee of 46, but she didn't look it. She had massive 34EE tits which I couldn't wait to get my gob round.

She got out my hard shaft and began sucking until I blew my load in her face. She then grabbed my hand and led me to the bedroom, threw me on the bed and stood frigging her wet pussy.

Then she jumped on top of me and went for gold as she rode my rod. She came four times in 20 minutes.

She brought me hard again in no time with a sloppy old tit-wank and some oral and then demanded it doggy-style.

Now she's offered me money to do her regularly.

Should I go for it?

Bexie says...
YOU'D be a fool to miss out on a golden opportunity to fulfil your fantasy – and earn a few quid!

I'm a 22-year-old single girl and I've been having driving lessons for six months. My instructor is a hunky guy in his 30s and we have been having sex after my lessons finish.

We normally do it in the back of his car but it's a bit cramped so once or twice he's taken me to the flat of a friend.

I've cooked me there recently and we had a steamy two-hour session. He's very well-endowed – about nine inches erect – and he knows how to use it.

One night after a lesson we went to the flat and I went down on him and he talked dirty as I chomped on his cock. After that I got on all fours and he slipped into me from behind. He kept going for 20 minutes until he shot his load and gave me a massive orgasm.

Anyway, as I said, we've been doing this for a bit and now I've found out he's married with kids.

Bexie says...

I've been married for 12 years and my wife and I have always had good sex. But one fantasy I've always wanted to realise is to watch her being taken by a young stud and, until recently, she'd always been against it.

A couple of weeks ago, to my astonishment, she said OK. On the big night she wore a tight blouse, a short black skirt and stockings and suspenders.

The plan was for her to go to a club in town, pick up a fella and bring him back home. I would then watch from the wardrobe as she was taken by him.

It wasn't long before I heard a taxi pull up and saw the wife getting out with a young man. I ran upstairs and hid, waiting for the show to begin. They came in and she pushed him back on the bed, slowly pulling down his trousers and rubbing his cock. He was soon rock hard so she took him in her mouth and gobbled him off.

After a few minutes he picked her up, placed her on all fours on the bed and began pounding away at her doggy-style.

At this point she looked round to where I was hiding and, between her moans of pleasure, gave me a saucy wink as the stud rammed away.

I was very turned on by it but I'm a bit put out that she seemed to enjoy it so much.

Is this wrong?

Bexie says...
YOU can't blame her – it was all YOUR idea!

AGONY IS BROUGHT TO YOU IN ASSOCIATION

WELCOME to the World famous Sport Agony page! No other newspaper's agony aunts can offer the level of advice – or experience – than our own Agony Angels! This week BEXIE WILLIAMS has been reading through your letters. And here's her advice for you...

Should I dump my wife to move in with sexy teen?

Dear Bexie,

I'm a 45-year-old married man and I thought I knew all there is to know about sex until I started a wild affair at work.

The girl in question is just 19 and we hit it off the day she started her new job.

She's gorgeous and looks much older than she is, and although all the lads in the office fancy her like mad, she seems to have eyes only for me.

I was very flattered, of course, and one day I invited her to lunch.

We chatted about everything and ended up kissing and cuddling in my car.

One thing led to another and before I knew it I was on top of her making love.

I'm afraid I was so turned on by her fit body that I ejaculated after just a minute or so and I felt really embarrassed, but she told me not to worry, adding that she was sure it would be better next time.

Anyway, two nights later I offered to drive her home but she suggested we go to a hotel instead.

My missus was staying at her sister's so we got ourselves a room, and once inside she started to strip off slowly.

By the time she got down to her skimpy lace undies I had a hard-on. She grabbed my cock and sucked me off.

After a while she got on all fours and let me enter her from behind.

I'm pleased to say that I managed to last for a full 45 minutes on the job before emptying my load inside her – a record for me.

Since that night we've been meeting regularly twice a week and every time the sex seems to get better.

This girl may be just a teenager but she's fantastic in bed.

Now I'm thinking it's time to leave my wife and set up home with this bird. What do you think?

GJ, Dorset

Bexie says...

YOU would be taking a massive risk due to the age gap. I reckon it won't be a long-term relationship.

Dear Bexie,

I AM shagging four different men at the moment and none of them is my husband. He started losing interest in sex a year ago.

Now I've picked up these fellas and getting it regularly.

I realise what I am doing is wrong but I don't know what to do because I love the sex. What should I do?

Anon, Canterbury

Bexie says...

IF you love the sex, the answer's easy.

Dear Bexie,

I'M 28 and after splitting from my husband, I was a bit of a recluse.

Then a friend rang to say that she'd fixed me up with a date. She told me that the guy worked in her office and was a real hunk. He was also five years younger than me so I thought I'd give it a go.

She arranged for us to meet in a pub and we had a really good night. At closing time he asked if he could take me home. Once back at my house I was soon naked on the sofa and had the most enormous penis I'd ever seen in my hands.

I was soon riding him for all I was worth.

I was bouncing up and down on his shaft as he tweaked my nipples. I had the most amazing orgasm but this hunk hadn't finished.

Soon I was on all fours and he was ramming hard into me. Again he brought me to a climax but he seemed insatiable so I wrapped my lips round his bellend and brought him off.

We've been seeing each other ever since. But now my husband wants a reconciliation. What should I do?

RN, Dorset

Bexie says...

FK the fella – and tell your ex to fk off!

Widow gave me beating, not money!

Dear Bexie,

I'D been out of work for a year and was broke. But I'm good-looking and I'm great in bed, so I decided to solve my money troubles by chatting up a rich old babe to look after me.

I scraped together a few quid, went to a nightclub, and before long saw a well-stacked 40-something blonde eyeing me up. One glance at her gold jewellery told me she had money, so I moved in.

It didn't take much effort. She said she was a wealthy widow looking for a toyboy.

Once back at her home she revealed that she was into domination, and expected me to play a submissive role. She changed into kinky leather gear, and told me to get on my knees and give her oral.

I was happy to oblige, expecting her to return the favour. But then she got out a whip and gave me a lashing on my bare buttocks. Then she placed a dog collar round my neck, and made me crawl around naked on a leash.

I left without so much as a w*nk. I'm still broke, but at least I've got my pride.

JS, Lancs

Bexie says...

YOU'RE too haty. What's wrong with a bit of S&M?

AMANDA DORKING

GREEN-FINGERED Pete Lambert emailed asking for a shot of pin-up girl Amanda Dorking.

Pete, a 46-year-old gardener from Ipswich, Suffolk, loves the outdoors almost as much as he loves pics of Chichester cracker Amy.

He said: "I spend all my time outside in people's gardens and I'd love a sneaky peek of Amy's lady-garden."

"If I came across those 32Cs in a garden somewhere, I'd be stunned – and I might even have to give her bush a little inspection!"

SOPHIE STARR

PHOTOGRAPHER Akram Ahmed can only dream of his pics being as raunchy as this one of stunning Sophie Starr.

Akram, 43, from Blackburn, Lancs, wrote to us with a saucy request of a boob-baring photo of Sophie, from Mersea Island, Essex.

Her perfectly pert 32C bust caught Akram's eye and would be the subject of Akram's ideal photoshoot.

He said: "I'd love to get Sophie in my studio – but the minute she got those boobs out, it wouldn't just be my camera that'd shoot!"

RUTH HIGHAM

LAUNDRETTE owner Fred Sidley begged us for a picture of glamour legend Ruth Higham.

The 58-year-old from Rhyl, North Wales, wrote to us wanting a perfect topless snap of his fave blonde, Ruth, from Bolton, Gtr Manchester.

Fred said: "I own a laundrette and I sit in the back office when it's quiet and I've got a wall full of sexy babes from the Sport."

"Ruth's 36DD corks really stand out and even though she obviously loves a clean pair of knicks, I bet she's pure filth between the sheets!"

SPORT STARTS HERE WITH RACING

I'm a Bo selector for Ludlow glory

BO ZENITH can reward Gary Moore's faith in the Racing To School Juvenile Hurdle at Ludlow.

A winner in France last spring, he beat the Willie Mullins-trained Blood Destiny and he is set to be one of the favourites for the Triumph Hurdle next month.

Because of the strength of that form, there was lots of confidence behind Bo Zenith for his British debut at Sandown and he was sent off an odds-on favourite, but he trailed home a well-beaten third of four.

Moore has a few nice juvenile hurdlers this season and thought Bo Zenith was the best of them, so it is worth giving him one more chance.

Fergal O'Brien's Great Heart'ac can follow up a recent win at Leicester in the S A S Utilities Ltd Novices' Handicap Chase.

Down in grade he was able to be ridden confidently and with only a 3lb rise to overcome, he should be tough to beat.

Tom George's Jobesgreen Lad arrives on a hat-trick in the Attwood Memorial Trophy Handicap Chase after wins at Hereford and Ludlow.

Decent ground seems to suit and while he has been hit hard by the handicapper, he is still running off bottom weight.

Laura Morgan repeatedly

By MIKE FRANCIS

shows that with the right ammunition she is a very capable trainer.

She runs Here We Have It off-topweight in the Vickersbet.com Handicap Chase at Southwell and there is every chance he can follow up a course and distance win from early December.

He meets the runner-up Treshnish on 4lb worse terms, but Sue Smith's charge had a 3lb conditional on board that day who is replaced by Brian Hughes this time.

Stuart Edmunds had a slow first half of the campaign but his horses are running into form.

Spell

His Sedge Wren was an easy winner on her hurdling debut in October and can defy a penalty in the Cazoo Mares' Novices' Hurdle.

At Kempton there is an interesting runner in the Unibet 3 Uniboozts A Day Conditions Stakes as Earl Of Tyrone makes his debut for William Haggas.

The chestnut was previously trained in Ireland by Paddy Twomey and has a Listed win and an Ebor third under his belt from that spell.

Though he will be making his debut on the all-weather at Kempton, an entry in a fast-track qualifier for the All Weather Finals Day suggests confidence in this route and under Haggas' care he cannot be overlooked.

On the same card, it is Eve Johnson Houghton's Rooful who looks set to continue a great run of form in the Join Racing TV Now Fillies' Handicap.

The five-year-old has enjoyed a real purple patch since autumn, winning three of her four starts over seven furlongs at Kempton and suffering only one loss when the runner up at the same track over a mile.

The winner on the latter occasion has won four times since, boosting Rooful's hopes of another all-weather success when returned to a mile against her own sex.

KLOPP FACES MAJOR FLOP

LIVERPOOL manager Jurgen Klopp faces yet another week wondering how to correct problems with his side after their latest baffling defeat.

The 3-0 loss to Wolves has left the Reds down in 10th spot in the Premier League and was a third successive away defeat in the competition. It is also only the third time since 1993 they have conceded three goals in three consecutive away matches in the top flight.

An aggregate scoreline of 9-1 against Brentford, Brighton and Wolves lays bare the current state of a Liverpool side who last season were chasing an unprecedented quadruple but the reasons for their problems are many.

Here, Midweek Sport takes a look at what is going wrong.

WHAT HAS HAPPENED AT

LIVERPOOL THIS SEASON?

They appear to have become embroiled in a perfect storm. Coming off the back of a physically and mentally draining 63-game season in which they almost won four trophies, a lack of investment in key areas, added to a number of injuries, has contributed to a drop in performances, which has led to results taking a dive and that has caused confidence to plummet. And the cycle just repeats.

WHO IS AT FAULT?

Responsibility has to be at the top of the club, starting with owners Fenway Sports Group, but also Klopp and his recruitment team.

FSG have provided £150million for five transfers in the last year, which is more than Premier League leaders Arsenal and Manchester City but less than Manchester United and Newcastle – the current top four – in the same period. However, those signings have made the team top heavy with four being forwards.

Thiago Alcantara, in September 2020, is the only midfield signing in the last four-and-a-half years. Borussia Dortmund's £100million-rated Jude Bellingham remains the summer priority target but with the remedial work needed it is no surprise FSG are looking for additional outside investment.

SO ARE THE PLAYERS ARE EXCUSED?

Absolutely not. The majority of this group have won the biggest trophies in club football and should be doing better than they are, even if age is starting to catch up with the midfield in particular.

A squad hailed as 'mentality monsters' appears to have lost the drive needed to impose themselves in games and also rectify situations when things go wrong. Since the 2018/19 PL season, Liverpool's win percentage in games where they have conceded first has dropped from 71 to 17 in the current campaign.

WHAT DO THE STATISTICS SHOW?

Wolves' three goals mean Liverpool have already conceded more this season than last, and that is reflected in the number of shots on target they have faced – 104 already, perhaps a symptom of that midfield malaise. That is 5.2 per game, up from 2.8 last season, and just one more game at that rate would bring it up to both last season's 108 and the 109 they allowed in their 2019-20 title-winning season. Even in a relative down year in between, finishing third in 2020-21, they allowed only 3.7 shots per game.

CAN IT BE FIXED IN TIME TO SAVE

THEIR SEASON?

There is huge work to be done all over the pitch. Liverpool's top scorer in the league since the campaign resumed after the World Cup is Leicester defender Wout Faes, who scored two own goals at Anfield in late December.

The return to training of long-term injured Diogo Jota may help that aspect, but Mohamed Salah and Darwin Nunez (both one goal in eight) need to find form. Virgil van Dijk is also back this week after injury and that cannot come soon enough for a back four which has looked porous and ponderous. Dropping Jordan Henderson and Fabinho from midfield was the right decision but with the solution still far from solved another re-jig may be necessary.

WHAT DOES KLOPP DO NOW?

The Liverpool manager has a full week to prepare for the Merseyside derby at home to Everton next Monday, which is a rarity for him in recent seasons. Klopp often complains about not having enough time to train but they had a full week before Wolves and still put in one of their worst performances, which suggests tactics and preparation are not necessarily the issue.

Shattered confidence needs to be rebuilt and an attitude which can make them competitive again in games restored ahead of one of their most closely-contested fixtures of the season against neighbours whose own confidence has received a new manager boost and will arrive looking to expose any weakness.

Tributes to Scotland goalkeeper Thomson

TRIBUTES have been paid to former Dundee United, Rangers and Scotland goalkeeper Billy Thomson following his death at the age of 64.

Thomson started his career with Partick Thistle before moving to St Mirren, where he won his seven international caps.

The Linwood-born keeper played in the 1987 UEFA Cup final for Dundee United after helping Jim McLean's men beat Barcelona home and away and later moved to Motherwell, where he was in goal for the club's first European game in 1991.

Thomson signed for Rangers in 1994 and spent two years at Ibrox before joining Dundee, where he both finished his playing career and started his coaching career.

He returned to Rangers in 2001 and joined Kilmarnock in 2007 for a lengthy coaching spell with the Ayrshire club, and was Stranraer's goalkeeping coach over the past 18 months.

Thomson's former clubs expressed their sadness at the news.

Thistle wrote: "Signed by Bertie Auld, Billy arrived at Firhill from Glasgow United as a teenager, faced with the unenviable task of displacing Alan Rough as the number one goalkeeper."

"Billy was a very talented young goalkeeper and for a time, Thistle could boast having the Scotland international goalkeeper and Scotland Under-21 goalkeeper on the books at Firhill."

"After just a handful of appearances in the Jags first team, Billy was transferred to St Mirren for £50,000."

The Paisley side wrote: "In May 2022, Billy took his rightful place in the St Mirren Hall of Fame."

United wrote: "Joining in 1984, Billy faced the unenviable task of taking over the gloves from Hamish McAlpine."

"A first-team regular until 1991, he made over 200 appearances for United, including being part of the squad that went all the way to the UEFA Cup final in '87."

Thomson also coached former Scotland goalkeeper Rab Douglas at Dundee. He wrote on Twitter: "Absolutely devastated to hear of the passing of Billy Thomson. A total gentleman and top coach, one of football's best without a doubt."

Are Mik's Arsenal Gunner blow it?

FEARS EVERTON DEFEAT MAY KICK OFF A MAJOR WOBBLE

ARSENAL suffered a rare setback in their search for a first Premier League title in 19 years as they slipped to defeat at struggling Everton.

Sean Dyche masterminded an important win for the Toffees in his first game at the helm but it was an off-day for an Arsenal side who have hardly put a foot wrong of late.

Here, Midweek Sport asks whether it was a one-off or if there may be more lingering worries for Gunners boss Mikel Arteta.

HAVE EVERTON PROVIDED A BLUEPRINT TO BEAT ARSENAL?

There is plenty of evidence to suggest Everton were always likely to get a promising result against Arsenal on Saturday, regardless of respective league positions and recent form.

Arteta, a former Everton midfielder, has now lost all three visits to the blue half of Merseyside since becoming Arsenal boss and Dyche has also fared well against the Spaniard.

Add to that the so-called 'new manager bounce' and it was going to be a tough afternoon for the visitors – but is there more to this defeat than that? Dyche seemed to fathom that to beat Arsenal he had to stop their midfield ticking over, his own triumvirate of Idrissa Gueye, Abdoulaye Doucoure and the magnificent Amadou Onana did not give Thomas Partey, Granit Xhaka or Martin Odegaard a second to make magic happen.

By JOHN ANTHONY

When they lost at Manchester United in September – their only other reverse in the league this season – Arsenal were the better team but were undone on the break, this time the worry will be others have seen that to stop them, you have to win the battle in the middle of the park – but it is easier said than done.

ARTETA'S SIDE RESPONDED PRETTY WELL TO THEIR LAST LEAGUE LOSS THOUGH, RIGHT?

Very much so. The defeat at Old Trafford came on the back of Arsenal winning all of their opening five Premier League games of the campaign.

They were beaten 3-1 but it is widely agreed the visitors were the better side, something that was arguably proved in the following weeks.

An eight-match winning streak in all competitions set Arsenal up as early title contenders and the best side in their Europa League group. The Everton loss follows a 1-0 FA

OUTFOUGHT: Partey

Cup fourth-round defeat against main title rivals Manchester City but, having made changes for that clash, Arteta will not treat the results equally and will be calling for a similar reaction to the United loss.

DO THEY HAVE A RUN OF GAMES TO PUT TOGETHER A SIMILAR SET OF RESULTS THIS TIME?

There are a couple of tough examinations to come, for sure.

Brentford are next up, visiting the Emirates Stadium on Saturday defending a nine-match unbeaten league run stretching back to October.

Arsenal were comfortable 3-0 winners in the reverse fixture in September and will be keen to replicate that before facing an all-together different challenge four days later when they host Pep Guardiola's City in a rearranged game.

Arsenal's recent record against the reigning champions, especially in the league, is woeful and they have lost the last 10 meetings, with an aggregate score of 26-3.

Win these two and not only will the Everton result be a distant memory but the title tilt will remain on course and potentially look even stronger than it does right now

CITY FACE BOOT FROM PREMIER

MANCHESTER City could be docked points or even expelled from the Premier League if more than 100 alleged rule breaches announced are found proven.

The Premier League issued a statement on its website announcing the club – who have won the competition six times since 2011 – had been referred to an independent commission in respect of a series of alleged breaches of rules related to club finances.

By MARK NAYLOR

The alleged breaches concerned the reporting of accurate financial information, the submission of details of manager and player pay information within the relevant contracts, a club's responsibility as a Premier League member to adhere to UEFA's Financial Fair Play regulations and to the league's own profitability and sustainability regulations.

The club are also alleged to have breached rules requiring them to co-operate and assist with the League's investigation into those breaches, which the league says began in December 2018.

Manchester City issued a statement expressing surprise at the announcement of the alleged rule breaches, which referred to "extensive engagement" with the Premier League on the matter. The club also said they held "irrefutable evidence" in support of their position.

Premier League rule W.51 covers the sanctioning powers available to commissions should alleged breaches of league rules be found proven.

These range from a reprimand, through the deduction of points up to a recommendation to the league to expel a club from the competition.

The commission has the power to make such sanctions conditional on defined actions being taken within a fixed time period, and respondents have a right of appeal.

City's statement said: "Man City FC is surprised by the issuing of these alleged breaches of the Premier League rules, particularly given the extensive engagement and vast amount of detailed materials that the EPL has been provided with."

Breaches

"The club welcomes the review of this matter by an independent commission, to impartially consider the comprehensive body of irrefutable evidence that exists in support of its position."

"As such we look forward to this matter being put to rest once and for all."

The club's chief executive Ferran Soriano is understood to have been notified by his Premier League counterpart Richard Masters of the referral over alleged breaches as the statement was going live.

City have previously vigorously fought and denied charges relating to alleged breaches of UEFA FFP rules.

They were found guilty by UEFA's club financial control body's adjudicatory chamber of "serious breaches" of FFP rules in February 2020 and handed a two-year UEFA competition ban, but this sanction was overturned on appeal at the Court of Arbitration for Sport in July of the same year.

KYLE'S A BIG HAALAND FAN

KYLE Walker has leapt to the defence of Manchester City forward Erling Haaland following Sunday's 1-0 defeat at Tottenham.

Premier League top goalscorer Haaland cut a frustrated figure in the capital and failed to have a single shot on target.

It's not the first time that his City team-mates didn't find a way of providing ammo for the big Norwegian hitman.

Haaland has scored 31 goals in 28 appearances since a summer switch from Borussia Dortmund, with 25 of them in the top flight but City remain five points behind leaders Arsenal after their fourth league loss of the campaign.

"I think it's a process," Walker said of Haaland's adaptation.

"Everyone that has come to Manchester City, I have been here for six years, it is a difficult team to fit in because the manager (Pep Guardiola) demands so much."

"The way we play is unique but, listen, Erling has been fantastic."

"No-one says anything about Erling when he is scoring goals, everyone all of a sudden is now when we don't win and he doesn't score are saying 'it is a problem or do we play better without Erling?"

"I hear it all the time but he has got I think 25 goals already this season."

"He's a fantastic player, this is the team we've got and the players we've got from now until the end of the season so we're going to fight like we always do."

Haaland enjoyed a phenomenal start to life at City and struck three hat-tricks during the first half of the campaign.

He hit another treble against Wolves last month but has failed to score in five of his last seven matches which is a concern.

City missed out on the chance to close the gap to Arsenal to two points after this latest defeat to Tottenham when they failed to hit the target.

But Walker said: "They dropped points and we needed to pick up points to close the gap but there is still a lot of football to play this season."

"I have been here many, many years in the Premier League and I know the twists and turns that can happen."

"I know what this team is about and what this team can do."

"We can go on a run from now until the end of the season and it is just about doing it."

FIRST STEP: Tarkowski

Gunners win just the start says Tarkowski

JAMES Tarkowski says the job has just begun to get Everton away from the dreaded drop zone.

The Burnley connection played a huge part in a 1-0 win against Arsenal as Dwight McNeil's corner was headed home by former Clarets team-mate Tarkowski as Sean Dyche, who managed them both at Turf Moor, made a memorable debut at Toffees boss.

"It's never nice and all the lads loved Lampard but it was just unfortunate we couldn't give him any results," Tarkowski said after scoring his first goal for the club since arriving on a free transfer in the summer.

"I think the way we played is just exactly what the manager wants. It's very straightforward with the manager.

"He gets you to work hard, gets you together as a team, makes you hard to beat but he wants you to show that personality out on the pitch, that you are a team and together.

"He's not that old school that we just stand there with no balls and just run back and forward in training. That was a short period in the week.

"He's not a complicated manager. He's very simple, very straightforward, so it's not hard to buy into what he's about.

"You've seen it already after a week's work that pretty much everyone has bought into it already.

"But we've got to keep building on that and it will be down to working hard again and we'll all go to Anfield and we'll look forward to it."

Dyche is of a similar opinion to the former England centre-back.

He said: "A win was important, how quickly we got it, and a clean sheet is fantastic.

"But I had the players in on Monday.

"It's not about giving days off, the plan is the plan and it won't change.

"My way of working is to embrace the past and build the future.

"The teams of the 80s could be powerful and direct but they could play as well.

"Now we have to do a version of it in modern style with analytics, recruitment, science and of course organisation.

"We have very good players here and I want to give them that platform and hopefully the freedom to then go on and play."

ENGLAND SKIPPER QUICKEST TO

SHEARER IN KANE SIGHTS

Harry wants to chase down Toon legend and reach top spot in the Premier League

TOTTENHAM record-breaker Harry Kane has admitted Alan Shearer's Premier League haul is now in sight in his clearest indication yet that his future lies in England.

Kane made history in Sunday's 1-0 win over Manchester City with his 15th-minute effort moving him beyond Jimmy Greaves as Spurs' all-time leading scorer with 267 goals for his boyhood club.

It also saw him reach the 200-goal mark in the Premier League and the forward is 60 off Shearer's record tally in the competition.

Doubts remain over Kane's future at Tottenham with his current contract set to expire in 18 months and Bayern Munich known suitors, but the England captain hinted his desire is to remain in his home country.

"I'm sure you guys will be talking about that," Kane said of Shearer's record.

By PAUL THOMAS

"It's always there in the back of my mind but I just take it game-by-game, season-by-season.

"It's definitely there to be broken and I'm feeling good and feeling fit so we'll see what happens.

"It's been an amazing journey. I've been here since I was 11 years old, it's 18 years of my life, a lot of hard work and dedication.

Proud

"I'm extremely proud to represent this club and score 267 goals for them and 200 Premier League goals for them is something I'll never take for granted. I've just got to keep it going, score as many as I can and see what happens from there."

Kane addressed the Spurs fans inside the stadium at full-time following the win over City before he headed back to the dressing room and was congratulated over the phone by manager Antonio Conte.

Conte had surgery to remove his gallbladder on Wednesday and watched the win from Italy.

Kane added: "He was on the phone there and he congratulated me for the achievement and just said he was proud of all the boys.

"It's not easy when you don't have your coach there. It's obviously been a difficult week, we're all happy the surgery went well and he's recovering well.

"We showed we're a unit, a team. I'm sure he was watching proud of all that. It was the type of performance where we knew what we had to go out and do.

"It wasn't going to be easy at times, we had to dig deep and really suffer and be together but I thought throughout the whole team everyone showed 110 per cent commitment."

Kane is the quickest player to reach 200 Premier League goals.

As well as breaking Jimmy Greaves' Tottenham scoring record in all competitions, Kane joined only Alan Shearer and Wayne Rooney with a double century since the top flight's rebranding.

Here, Midweek Sport looks at how he compares to the other two goal getters.

ALAN SHEARER
260 GOALS, 441 APPEARANCES

The Premier League's record scorer is a near-perfect comparison for Kane, having reached 200 goals in 306 appearances – Kane broke that record by two when he netted on Sunday.

Shearer went on to reach 260 in 14 seasons – as well as 23 for Southampton in what was then known as the First Division prior to 1992 – and is the only player to score a century of Premier League goals for two different clubs having done so with Blackburn and Newcastle.

He added 64 assists and, like Kane, won three Golden Boots. Shearer's coming in successive seasons from 1994-95 to 1996-97.

Kane and Son

defences for Tottenham

The first of those gave him his best seasonal tally – 34 goals, a Premier League record shared with Andrew Cole – while Shearer's career tally was aided by a record 56 penalties.

WAYNE ROONEY

208 GOALS, 491 APPEARANCES

Rooney spent long stretches of his career playing as less of an out-and-out striker than Shearer or Kane, meaning his statistical profile is slightly different – he never won a Premier League Golden Boot and took 462 matches to bring up his double-century, shortly after returning to boyhood club Everton.

He passed 20 league goals in a season on two occasions, with 26 in 2009-10 and 27 in 2011-12, and is Manchester United's all-time record scorer with 253 goals in all competitions including 183 of his league tally.

With 103 assists, he is unique in scoring 200 goals and creating 100 in the Premier League – Ryan Giggs, Cesc Fabregas and Frank Lampard are the only other players with a century of assists.

HARRY KANE

200 GOALS, 304 APPEARANCES

Aged 29 years and six months, Kane is more than a year younger than Shearer was when he reached 200 goals so has time on his side as he chases the all-time record – despite transfer speculation in recent seasons, he said upon reaching 200: "I've got plenty of years left so hopefully there are a few more to come."

He has added 44 assists, many in his productive partnership with Son Heung-min, and has scored 30 penalties from 34 attempts.

Kane won the Golden Boot in 2015-16, 2016-17 and 2020-21 – though in his only 30-goal season to date, 2017-18, he was edged out by Mohamed Salah's 32 for Liverpool. Leicester are his favourite opponent, with 18 goals against the Foxes, followed by 14 against both Arsenal and Everton.

ANGE AARON THE LOOKOUT

ANGE Postecoglou is "not the least surprised" by Aaron Mooy's growing influence on his Celtic side and expects it to become even stronger.

The 32-year-old Australia midfielder had a slow start to his Hoops career after joining from Chinese Super League team Shanghai Port last summer.

However, he has developed into a fans' favourite and was instrumental in the 4-1 win over St Johnstone at McDiarmid Park on Sunday.

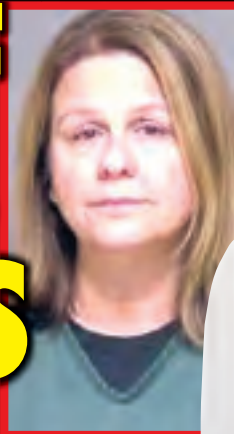

The Celtic boss said: "He is just a quality footballer. I am not the least surprised by him."

"I kind of know what is in there and there is a lot more to come. His influence is growing."

"On that pitch, where even good players were struggling, every time he got the ball he was so sure-footed and he kept it. His balance is unbelievable. He is really strong in terms of his core strength."

Iraola leads list as Leeds hunt for yet another boss

By JOHN ANTHONY

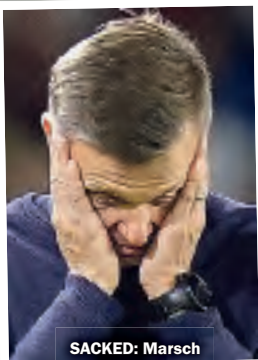

LEEDS have put Rayo Vallecano's Andoni Iraola at the top of their list as they hunt a 13th manager in the past decade.

It is understood the Yorkshire giants have a shortlist in place and interviews have already started at Elland Road.

Interim boss Michael Skubala is in charge for tonight's crucial clash with Manchester United.

He said: "This is temporary, I'll go back to my old role when this is done. I'm just getting through this first game. Whatever happens between tomorrow and Sunday remains to be seen."

"I've seen change quite a lot so it's important to be calm. It's been busy, but it's a good challenge. The owners are working really hard behind the scenes to find the solution."

Skubala was director of football at Loughborough Uni and worked at the FA, culminating as head coach of England U-18s, before being appointed in his U-21s role at Thorp Arch last July.

He will be joined in the dugout at Old Trafford by development coach Paco Gallardo and Chris Armas, who was appointed as Marsch's assistant at the end of last month.

Vallecano head coach Iraola, 40, is understood to be among the candidates Leeds are keen to speak to, along with West Brom head coach Carlos Corberan, who worked under Marcelo Bielsa.

Iraola's reputation has grown in LaLiga during his two-and-a-half years as a coach with unfashionable Valleciano, who he has guided to fifth in the table.
